

New Strategies for PET Imaging in Oncology and Neurology

Abstract: This presentation will cover new radiotracers and imaging strategies being developed at the Molecular Imaging Program at Stanford, including applications in positron emission tomography imaging in oncology and neurology.

