P1s, P2s, P3s:

Here is today's daily summary for you:

1. P2 and P3 students: You should have received an IPPE rotation survey recently from CORE ELMS asking about the status of your current IPPE rotation. Be sure to complete the survey no later than noon on Friday, 3/20, even if you already emailed the Office of Experiential Education or submitted an absence request. We will use the information submitted to guide decisions about how/when/where students will make up their missed IPPE rotations hours, so we need to hear from everyone in a timely manner! If your situation changes after you submit the survey, be sure to send any changes/updates to cop-et@umich.edu immediately. We need to know asap if your individual situation changes or if your site is no longer able to host students. Below are the survey links in case you need them.

2. Remote classes appear to be going relatively well. Be sure to let us know if there are any issues with online courses by reporting online/remote learning concerns on the google doc we created last week (this is also on the college website).
3. If you are sick and need to miss class or an exam, be sure to submit an absence request
4. We are planning to host optional virtual class meetings early next week; stay tuned for more information.

Tips for managing remote learning:

Take breaks from work and the news, including limiting your time on social media
Continue to maintain a sense of HOPE and community – we are all in this together
Take time to unwind and do something you enjoy – set up a virtual game with friends/family. I am going to try JackBox with my remote family!
