Hi P4s

We are holding class meetings with each class next week to give everybody a chance to ask whatever questions you have about COP plans and plans to get you to graduation.

Aimee Falk will be setting up an online meeting for us all and will invite you to participate. We plan to record the meeting in case you cannot attend.

You already should have received through CORE Elms, a message from Dr. Walker and the Experiential Ed group about your personal plan for finishing off P4 year.

You are either a Group 1, 2, or 3 as explained in the Core Elms message. Be sure to know which group you are in! It will make our online conversation go smoother.

Also to make this go smoother, use the Google sheet below to pre-populate your questions. That way we can start by answering your most pressing questions, even if technology doesn't go well.

Already you have uploaded some good ones for us to start with.

Hoping you are doing well while being socially distant. Nothing stops you from going outside and getting some fresh air. When I hit send on this email, I am going on a 3 mile walk, just to get out of the house.

This morning I made poached eggs for the first time! YouTube can teach us so much!

Finally, what is the deal with all this toilet paper hoarding? Here is a "Clean version" of the issue.

And here is the PG-13 version by some Dad somewhere. Don't open if you don't want to hear naughty words. You are not allowed to submit a PCN on me for this!

There is actually some good info underneath the video...

Dad stages homeschool maths lesson by working how much loo roll people REALLY need during coronavirus lockdown

www.the-sun.com

A DAD'S online math lesson has gone viral after demonstrating just how much toilet paper each person needs when self-isolating for 14 days – and it's not as much as you'd th...

I will talk to you all virtually next week!
